Pemex-Exploration and Production reorganizes its internal structure

In order to achieve the objectives set out in Pemex’s Business Plan and maximize value in the various operational and service areas in a sustainable manner, the Board of Directors of Pemex-Exploration and Production (“PEP”) approved the reorganization of the internal structure of PEP, a subsidiary entity of Petróleos Mexicanos.

This approach will assist PEP in facing strategic challenges, such as replacing 100% of proved reserves for 2012, increasing the reserves replacement rate, decreasing the rate of decline in production, reducing extraction and development costs and accelerating new production.

This reorganization is the result of an analysis of the entire value chain of PEP, which identified areas for improvement regarding structure, performance, development and measurement, while also strengthening internal practices related to customer service and accountability, in order to focus the organization on primary activities.

To that effect, new units exclusively dedicated to exploration and development of top priority projects are being created, and the activities of the various regions will focus on hydrocarbon production.

Among the main changes incorporated in the new structure, the following stand out:

- Integration of exploratory activity under the new Deputy Director’s Office of Exploration.
- Creation of the Deputy Director’s Office of Field Development, which will be in charge of the Ayatsil-Tekel, Tsimin-Xux and Lakach projects.
- Concentration of the Business Units on hydrocarbon production.
- Integration of infrastructure maintenance and logistics activity of all regions under one Deputy Director’s Office.
- Focus on drilling execution within the new Drilling Business Unit.
- Strengthening of the construction area in order to increase its efficiency in meeting requirements.
- Creation of an area of technical resources management, in charge of optimizing the use of technical staff from the different Deputy Director’s Offices.

Once the macro structure that defines each of the Deputy Director’s Offices is announced, each Office will make proposals regarding its micro structure to effectuate the improvements necessary to allow PEP to meet its strategic challenges.

The authorized structure is the following:
PEP’s Approved Structure

- NEM: Northeastern Marine Region
- SWM: Southwestern Marine Region
- Southern: Southern Region
- Northern: Northern Region
